How to Take a Japanese Onsen Bath

★ Entrance

Take off your shoes before stepping up on the floor.

★ Changing Room

Most changing rooms have baskets or lockers. Undress and place your clothing in the basket. It is best not to bring any valuables with you. Use the lockers provided.

Take a small towel (or washcloth) and cover your private areas (if necessary).

At the public baths, soap and shampoo are usually not provided, so bring your own toiletries.

Note: Do not bring bath towels, cameras or recording equipment into bathing areas.

★ Cleansing & Bathing Areas

Since the bath is used in common by all, wash your body, hair and face before entering the bath.

Note: Keep the cleansing & bathing areas clean.

After washing yourself completely, you may enter the bath. As the water is usually hot, check the temperature with hand or foot.

Note: Do not put the small towel (or washcloth) in the water.

Do not stay in the hot spring too long, otherwise you may feel dizzy. It is a good idea to soak for a short time, then cool off. Repeat this practice.
